Task 5 – Report Write-up

NAME: BHUMIKA SHARMA

REGISTRATION NUMBER: 25BOE10070

BRANCH: B.Tech Bioengineering

While working on this task, I explored different types of cybercrimes and chose phishing as my case study. I learned how attackers create fake emails and websites to trick users into sharing sensitive information such as passwords and banking details. What surprised me the most was how easily these attacks can look genuine and how quickly a small mistake can lead to serious consequences like financial loss or identity theft.

This task increased my awareness about online safety and the importance of verifying sources before taking any action. I realized that being careless while clicking links or responding to unknown messages can be risky. One habit I will change is to always double-check links and avoid entering personal information on untrusted websites. I will also enable additional security measures like two-factor authentication. Overall, this task helped me understand practical ways to stay safe in the digital world.
